Arabs Organize To Fight Jew Plan

JERUSALEM, May 2—The Arab higher committee today adopted a resolution to organize Arab civil disobedience and mobilize Arab youth "for emergency service" as a result of the Anglo-American Palestine inquiry commission's report.

The mobilization - disobedience resolution was the second drastic action taken by the Arab higher committee since the commission revealed its recommendation to admit 100,000 Jews to Palestine.

The committee already had proclaimed a general strike of Arabs throughout Palestine tomorrow in protest against the Anglo-American report.

The extent to which the Arabs were prepared to go in civil disobedience and youth mobilization was not clear immediately.

On the eve of the Arabic general strike, Jewish quarters denounced Premier Clement Attlee's statement in the British house of commons yesterday that all illegal armies in Palestine must be disbanded before 100,000 could enter the Holy Land.

The 18-member higher committee adopted its resolution as police and army precautions were taken in Palestine reminiscent of those in the trouble periods of 1936 and 1939.

The committee met under the chairmanship of Jamal Hussein. One member, Auni Bey Abdul Hadi, described the meeting as an "emergency conference."

The committee sent Abdul Rahman Bey Azzam of the Arab league in Cairo an urgent request for an Arab league conference "immediately."

It also dispatched messages to all the Arab kings and governments.

The Arab resolution called for the organization of Arab civil disobedience, mobilization of Arab youth "for emergency service in Palestine," formation of an emergency committee.

NEW EVIDENCE AGAINST SPAIN AWAITED BY UN

51 Nations Invited To Give Information To Group Probing Franco

RUSSIA MAY JOIN GROUP
U. S. Reply May Be Expansion Of 'White Paper' On Germans In Spain

NEW YORK, May 2—A UN security council subcommittee awaited replies today from the 51 United Nations whom it has invited to submit evidence on the question of whether Spain's Franco government is a menace to world peace.

The five-nation group asked for such information last night and said it would also welcome evidence from non-governmental sources.

At least four nations—the United States, Great Britain, Poland, and Mexico—are now preparing or already have made ready documents concerning the Spanish question.

Russia, which opposed the fact-finding inquiry on the ground it would delay required action against Spain, may also submit information on the wartime tie-up between Spain and Nazi Germany.

The United States evidence, which is now being prepared by the state department, was expected to expand on the recent American "white paper" on Spain as to give details on the presence of "obnoxious" Germans in Spain.

Both Britain and the U. S. have been pressing the Spanish government to send such Nazi agents back to Germany, but U. S. security council delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., said that Spain has been showing a "growing reluctance" to comply.

British documents are expected to show that in terms of armed might and industrial potential, Spain today is not a threat to world peace—the only condition on which the security council throw a United Nations diplomatic blockade around Spain as proposed by Poland.

Poland has charged specifically that the Franco regime is sheltering Nazi scientists who are free to work on atomic weapons, but neither the United States or Britain has given this accusation much credence.

The security council subcommittee which is examining the Spanish question and must report back to the council by May 31 held its first full-dress meeting late yesterday behind closed doors.

No further meeting is scheduled until 3 p. m., Monday, May 6, when the group will again convene in secret.

The subcommittee—set up by a 10 to 0 council vote with Russia abstaining—is composed of Australia, China, Brazil, Poland and France.

In a communique issued after yesterday's meeting the group announced the UN secretariat had been asked to request all United Nations members for relevant information on Spain, and disclosed it already had before its 461 communications on this subject from individuals and non-governmental bodies.

All except five of these letters and telegrams were generally hostile to the Franco regime. The five favorable communications objected to "outside interference in the internal affairs of Spain."

BROWNOUT SET IN ILLINOIS; OTHERS COMING

Restrictions More Drastic Than In War Imposed As Coal Disappears

By United Press
Illinois curtailed the use of electricity today and state and city officials across the country contemplated similar measures as coal supplies dwindled and the shortage grew in intensity.

The shortage caused by the monthlong soft coal walkout already has resulted in the loss of 54,966,844 tons, according to the solid fuels administration. An estimated 65,000 workers were idle in coal-consuming industries.

In Illinois, a "brown-out" more drastic than the wartime curfew went into effect, darkening movies and display signs and limiting electrical power to industrial and commercial users.

Similar regulations were anticipated in major cities throughout the East and Midwest, while officials reported coal stockpiles approaching the danger point.

The Illinois commerce commission imposed the restrictions on Chicago and northern and central Illinois. The order also banned the use of electricity for air conditioning and limited industrial users to 24 hours a week. Commercial users were permitted to operate

COAL OPERATORS BLAME LEWIS

Industry Places Case Before Public; Lewis Calls Policy Committee

By United Press
Soft coal operators moved to enlist public support in the month-old mine walkout today, as John L. Lewis hinted at a possible change in strike strategy by summoning his 200-man policy committee to meet in Washington.

The industry placed its case before the public in a nationwide radio broadcast by Charles O'Neill, operators' spokesman, who laid the entire blame on mine chieftain Lewis and termed the strike the "most costly" in American history.

The strike has directly affected 400,000 AFL United Mine Workers and indirectly idled an estimated 65,000 workers in coal-consuming industries.

In the nation's major labor developments: 1. Atlanta transit workers struck for the second day in support of wage and pension demands, and streetcar and bus operators in Los Angeles voted to leave their jobs at 4 a. m. tomorrow.

2. Wisconsin's governor Walter S. Goodland dispatched a representative to investigate company reports of a "state of anarchy" among CIO strikers at the Allis.

TRUMAN ASKS SUBSIDIES IN PROPOSED BUDGET

WASHINGTON, May 2—President Truman, in submitting to congress the first budget for the 34 wholly-owned government corporations, today strongly reiterated his plea for subsidies to expand production of building materials needed for the veterans' housing program.

Mr. Truman also said it was necessary—"much as I regret"—to continue some of the war-time subsidy programs essential to hold the line against inflation.

Fallen Capitals Scenes Of May Day Celebrations

DEMONSTRATORS in the world's fallen capitals—Berlin and Tokyo—ushered in May with massive celebrations. Soviet motorized patrols cruise alongside the 400,000 marchers, shown in top photo, as they carry red banners through Berlin's Unter den Linden, while in Tokyo, 300,000 Japanese flaunt quaintly spelled English slogans as they stage a demonstration before the Imperial palace, even as the Nippon government was delivering to General MacArthur's headquarters an official apology for the assassination plot aimed at the Allied supreme commander. This is the first time in 10 years such a celebration has been permitted in Japan.

WALLACE PLANS PARTY BLOWUP

Commerce Secretary Making Democrat Party Too Hot For Southerners

WASHINGTON, May 2—Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace is jaunting around the country on a project to make the Democratic party too hot for southern conservative politicians.

The tousle-haired Iowan is setting the party for a ruckus which probably will blow the roof off the Democratic national convention hall in 1948. His method is a series of campaign speeches. He is delivering major addresses on an average of once a month.

Wallace usually speaks under the auspices of the national citizens political action committee, the door-bell ringing organization inspired by Sidney Hillman and the CIO. In the Far West, the North and the East, Wallace is rallying the PAC and left wing elements in general. He exhorts them to make the Democratic party a new deal organization and to keep it that way.

It is evident to political observers that Wallace still hurts where he was kicked out of the vice presidential nomination in 1944. He intends to go into the 1948 Democratic caucus.

Government Moves To Speed Up Men's Clothes

WASHINGTON, May 2—The government moved ahead today with emergency steps to keep men's clothing moving into retail stores.

The OPA led the way. It decreed a 30-day period of grace—from May 1 to May 30—in which manufacturers can continue shipments of higher priced suits without incurring penalties under OPA's maximum average price (MAP) regulation.

Many manufacturers started withholding shipments yesterday because of fear of the penalties.

MAP requires them to turn out the same ratio of low, medium and high priced garments as they did during a specified period in the past, generally 1944.

OPA said the 30-day "grace" period would allow the manufacturers to bring their shipments in compliance with the order and at the same time assure an uninterrupted flow of suits.

The civilian production administration also swung into action, scheduling two meetings with clothing industry men to discuss ways and means of boosting production.

CPA officials met today with the woolen and worsted manufacturers industry advisory committee. On May 6 they will meet with the men's and boys' clothing industry advisory committee.

Mother Title Is Awarded To Negress

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2—Mrs. Emma Clarissa Clement, 71, grey-haired, bespectacled negress, quietly accepted today the honor of being "American Mother of 1946."

Mrs. Clement, mother of seven, including a college president, is the granddaughter of a slave. She was attending a district conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church in nearby Springfield last night when her daughter telephoned to tell her she had been chosen to represent American mothers on Mother's Day, May 12.

"That's nice," she said. Mrs. Clement was selected in New York yesterday by the Golden Rule Foundation for the honor it has conferred on outstanding mothers for the last 11 years. She was the first negro to be selected.

In announcing the selection, Mrs. David de Sola Pool, chairman of the foundation's American mothers committee, said:

"In selecting Mrs. Clement as the American mother for 1946, the committee gives recognition not only to the great personal qualities of Mrs. Clement as a mother of children who are devotedly serving their country and their people, as a partner in her husband's ministry in his lifetime, as a social and community worker in her own right, but it

Attorneys To Contend That Indictments Against Tojo And Others Illegal

TOKYO, May 2—Attorneys defending 28 suspected Japanese war criminals, including former prime minister Hideki Tojo, will move today to quash the indictments when the defendants are arraigned tomorrow, reliable sources said today.

The decision was made at an hour-long meeting at the home of Dr. Ichiro Koyasu, Tojo's chief defense counsel. The arraignments are set for 10:30 a. m.

The defense reportedly will demand that the indictments be thrown out on grounds they are illegal under the Potsdam declaration which Japan accepted when she surrendered, and that the charter of the international military tribunal before which the suspects will be tried does not have jurisdiction.

Kiyose told the United Press that he hoped the trials will not

SCIENTIST SEES EARTH BECOMING MOLTEN MASS

PITTSBURGH, May 2—Dr. Bailey Willis, noted geologist, predicted today that the earth eventually will become a molten mass as the result of a gradual increase in the temperature of the world's core.

Willis' theory was published by the Pittsburgh Geographical Society, which termed it "revolutionary." Most scientists have held that the earth's matter was cooling.

Willis, 88-year-old professor emeritus of Stanford university, based his theory on recent discoveries about radio-active materials. These materials, he believes, are responsible for heating the center of the earth.

ANDERSON SEES FOOD FAMINE ON NEXT YEAR TOO

Americans Facing Hard Fact Restricted Diet May Last Over Year

WASHINGTON, May 2—Americans faced the hard fact today that they may have to eat less far into 1947 if the threat of mass starvation is to be erased from the world.

This sober warning was issued by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson. He told a news conference that government experts were convinced the food saving program must continue through this year.

Then he added that some officials believed it would be necessary to continue the program even through 1947.

Anderson said the government had no immediate plans to ration flour despite the global grain shortage. But he did not rule out the possibility that rationing might be resumed later.

The secretary said the final decision on domestic rationing would have to await the summer harvest. Then, he said, the world can measure its available food supplies and see if they will stretch through the fall and winter of 1946-47.

If world crops should turn out bad and there is a real need for rationing here, he said, there would be plenty of time to work out an effective long-range program. Officials contend that rationing could not be put into effect in time to help the present crisis.

The government underscored Anderson's belief that the food

SCHACHT CLAIMS ANTI-NAZI MOVE

German Financier Says He Led Plotters Against Adolf Hitler

NUERNBERG, May 2—Hjalmar Schacht described himself to the war crimes court today as the wartime leader of an anti-Nazi group which plotted to overthrow Adolf Hitler but "never got going because we waited on the outcome of negotiations abroad."

Schacht, testifying for the third day in his own defense, said he was "continually in touch with friends abroad—Americans, British, French and neutrals" who were aware of his plans and scheming against Hitler.

He said he began in 1937 trying to line up dependable opposition groups in Germany.

"All the circles in which I had hopes were failures—scientists and economists educated in Germany," Schacht testified. "The leading economists crowded Hermann Goering's anteroom after he took power, and shunned mine."

He said he got in touch with one General Lindemann in 1943 and carried on negotiations to overthrow Hitler. He said he told Lindemann, who was executed after the 1944 bomb attempt on Hitler's life.

"The generals are delaying too long. Hitler ought to be assassinated before the invasion by the Allies," Schacht said he protested against the Nazi concentration camps in their early days, and never heard of the mass murders at their until after Germany collapsed. He observed ruefully that he "did have an opportunity to visit several camps" after he was seized by the Nazis following the bomb plot against Hitler.

Disposition Of Two Adriatic Isles Is Settled; No Major Decisions Yet

SPEEDUP PLAN ADOPTED
Executive Meetings Slated To Hurry Up Work At Paris Conference

PARIS, May 2—The council of foreign ministers today decided on the disposition of two small Adriatic islands and agreed on a more informal procedure in an effort to speed up its business.

The council agreed that the Adriatic island of Pelagosa should go to Yugoslavia with a guarantee of fishing rights for Italy. The island of Pianosa will remain in Italy's hands but with a proviso that it not be militarized.

The ministers agreed that in addition to their plenary sessions they will hold small informal meetings at which only the four ministers and two advisers each will be present.

This was expected to speed the consideration of controversial issues.

Start Second Week
The ministers were opening their second week of talks, without reaching a decision on any major issue.

A Rome announcement said Premier Alcide de Gasperi was flying to Paris today to present the Italian viewpoint on the Venezia Giulia dispute to the conference. Italian and Yugoslav representatives have been invited to appear tomorrow.

The Dalmatian question was a difficult one, but the Italian war criminal problem was expected to be easier.

Added Unexpectedly
Both items were added to the agenda unexpectedly after a heated dispute yesterday between Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia and the western powers on other aspects of the Italian treaty and reduction of allied occupation forces in Austria.

The ministers also prepared to open preliminary talks on peace treaties with the smaller Axis satellites before trying to drive final bargains on Italy. There was no immediate prospect of agreement on the major Italian issues, and an eventual showdown had become inevitable.

Headache Seen

Disposal of the Dalmatian islands in the Adriatic sea off Yugoslavia, although not previously listed on the agenda, presented a serious headache to the ministers. Geographically and economically the islands should form an integral part of Yugoslavia, but the population of many is largely Italian.

The islands hug the long Yugoslav coastline, and some were the scenes of partisan fighting and commando raids against the Germans. Lagosta, most southerly of the chain, and the city of Zara, (Continued on Page Two)

SUPERINTENDENT PROBING RIOT AT BIS; 15 HURT

LANCASTER, O., May 2—Superintendent Harold H. Hays of the Boys' Industrial school today investigated a riot by approximately 150 boys which resulted in injuries to 15 and Guard S. A. Plummer.

The riot broke out at meal-time in the dining hall between white residents of Nash cottage and Negro residents of Harrison cottage.

Plummer received face cuts and his glasses were broken. Several boys were cut when cups, dishes and other items were thrown during the riot. Several windows were broken.

Hays said that the trouble stemmed from "bad blood resulting from athletic competition some time ago." Four or five guards were present and quickly stopped the riot.

Assignment to a punishment squad for from 15 to 30 days was given today to five boys who were found responsible for the riot.

actually situated on the mainland, constitute virtual Italian enclaves inside Yugoslav territory.

After the Axis conquest of Yugoslavia in 1941, all the islands were annexed outright by Italy. The coastline was given to the Axis puppet state, Croatia.

The ministers' problem was to decide whether all the coastline and islands, including Zara, should be returned to Yugoslavia, or whether some transfer of the Italian-speaking population should be carried out first.

Byrnes Opposed

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes ran into stiff opposition from Molotov yesterday when he urged reduction of allied occupation forces in Austria and expressed the United States' willingness to cut her forces to 15,000 each in Austria and Italy.

The ministers also hit sharp differences over establishing a control commission in Italy to supervise the peace treaty. Molotov strongly opposed the plan, supported by the other three. He said it would infringe upon Italian sovereignty.

There was little prospect of quick action on Byrnes' proposal about troops. It was laid aside, just as the American proposal for a 25-year big four treaty on German disarmament was on Monday.

CHAFFIN BOUND OVER TO JURY ON ARSON CHARGE

Kay Chaffin, 60, pleaded not guilty of arson, Thursday, before Justice of the Peace Harold O. Eveland. The charge was filed Wednesday afternoon by Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

Chaffin was bound to the grand jury and was remanded to jail in default of $1,000.

Following a fire Easter Sunday in the Chaffin home on the Walnut Creek pike near Circleville an investigation conducted by Sheriff Radcliff and Deputy State Fire Marshal William Eisenhower disclosed, according to the sheriff, that the premises had been saturated with distillate fuel oil. Chaffin told firemen who battled the flames that kerosene with which he was kindling a stove fire exploded.

The affidavit filed against Chaffin says, in part, that he "did unlawfully, wilfully, and maliciously set fire to and burn one dwelling house, the property of Homer B. Quillin."

MARTIN K. BISH

Martin K. Bish, one-time Circleville resident, died Easter Sunday in a hospital at Larned, Kans., at the age of 86, and was buried April 23 in a cemetery at Winfield, Kans., according to word received Thursday in Circleville.

The newspaper compared President Truman's "warm" reception of the report with Attlee's statement, which it said was in stark contrast.

Tension resulting from publication of the Anglo-American commission's recommendations was high. Neither Jews nor Arabs were satisfied with the report. For purposes of this year's congressional campaign, Wallace is doing the best job of anyone in the administration to help the Democrats hold their senate and house majorities. The showdown on his long haul political program cannot come until the party assemblies in national convention two years hence. It will come then with a bang.

At Cleveland, the Pittsburgh Steamship Company, largest of the Great Lakes operators, said its boats would be laid up within two weeks if the strike continued. An announcement from the Canadian steamship lines said three of its boats were unable to obtain fuel to leave the piers.

shortage would continue through 1946 when it announced that it was continuing its food purchase program for foreign nations another year instead of letting it expire on July 1.

Under the program, this government buys food in the U. S. for foreign countries which cannot meet their own needs. Britain, France, Netherlands, Netherlands East Indies, Belgium and India have been the chief participants. They spent $318,000,000 for U. S. food in 1945.

Anderson said scattered returns on the government's grain bonus plan made him "hopeful" that the country would meet its goal of exporting 225,000,000 bushels of wheat and wheat products to overseas famine areas this year.

He conceded that the weather would be an important factor because farmers would release their wheat and corn if they thought they would have a good crop next Summer. He said he did not go along, however, with those who were pessimistic over the wheat crop.

Lewis' action in calling together the union's policy committee aroused much speculation among industry and government officials participating in the prolonged coal negotiations. Such calls often have foreshadowed important developments.

Lewis' announcement followed an unsuccessful two-hour bargaining conference and came as major industries and public utilities began curtailing operations to conserve dwindling coal supplies.

MOUSE BLAMED FOR AIR CRASH FATAL TO TWO

ELYRIA, May 2—An air-minded mouse today was blamed for an airplane crash near Grafton, O., April 10, that took the life of the pilot and his passenger.

Jack Coates, manager of the Elyria airport, said he found the mouse's nest inside the left wing of the plane which he was salvaging at the request of pilot's widow.

He said the mouse used the stitching that bound the canvas wing fabric to the frame, causing the fabric to rip and separate. He reported the discovery to the Civil Aeronautics Authority, which earlier established wing failure as the cause of the crash.

The men killed in the wreck were Wayne Chester Myers, 31, the pilot, and Joseph Burke, 30, both of Grafton.

CAPONE AIDES PLANNING CUT ON RACE BETS

'Scarface Al' Would Share
In Profits In Newest Gambling Setup

CHICAGO, May 2 — Greying lieutenants of the old Capone syndicate were reported hatching a plot today to muscle in on every horserace handbook in the nation, with a cut in the profits going to "Scarface" Al himself.

The scheme, if successful, would give control of the betting parlors to the mob which terrorized Chicago in gaining control of its illegal liquor business during prohibition.

The Capone mobsters' plan to take over the wire services which supply results to the handbooks, it is reported.

Without race wires the handbooks would be unable to operate. In this situation, the Capone gang leaders see for themselves a $10,000,000-a-year future.

The extent of the scheme was revealed to the United Press by the operator of a racing news service. His story was confirmed by police officials.

The informant insisted that a share of the "take" from the activities of the survivors of the Capone mob still goes to Al Capone, supposedly in doddering retirement in Wisconsin and Florida resorts.

Actually, the informant said, Al Capone still figures in anything undertaken by his henchmen of the beer war days—especially the profits. He added that he doubted the story that Capone is mentally incompetent.

When Capone was released from federal custody in 1939 after serving a prison term for income tax evasion he reportedly was suffering from paresis. Since then he has stayed away from Chicago, living in seclusion at Miami and Mercer, Wis.

The control of what was left of his multi-million-dollar rackets empire passed to his three brothers—Mimi, Ralph, and Matt.

Al sunned himself and his brothers carried on, doing the best

The handbook scheme is one of the most ambitious ever undertaken by an underworld mob. It dips into an enterprise doing an estimated $500,000,000 annual business from coast to coast. The operators themselves are outside the law, making it impossible for them to appeal for police protection. The efficiency of the Capone syndicate's strong-arm methods was well demonstrated during the prohibition era.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Willie Lives in an "Almost" Home

Willie Wells is one of many G.I.'s stationed overseas to keep the Peace. Not to forget them, let me describe a snapshot that he sent.

It's the inside of a house where Willie's quartered ... except the boys have fixed it up as much as possible to look like a typical American home. They've hung up pictures of their families, cultivated a stray puppy for a house pet.

And the snapshot shows Willie and his buddies sitting by their hearth, drinking friendly American beer and reading the hometown paper. "Almost like being back in Clover Corners," says the caption.

From where I sit, that "almost" packs a lot of meaning. Thousands of our boys are still overseas, trying to make their quarters home-like, even to the pet dog and the friendly glass of beer. Let's not forget to write them often—remind them that home is waiting—and it's not an "almost" home either.

MEAT SHORTAGE TO GET WORSE PICKELL STATES

Livestock Representative Says Present Controls Must Be Lifted

WASHINGTON, May 2—A representative of the livestock industry predicted today that the meat shortage will get "worse and worse" under present government restrictions.

Mark W. Pickell, executive secretary of the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders association, added, however, that congress could reverse the trend by dropping price controls and subsidies on meat.

In a statement prepared for the senate banking committee, Pickell said shipments of feeder steers to market during the first three weeks of April were only 66 per cent of the shipments during the same period last year.

"It will continue to get worse and worse unless you gentlemen do something about it," he said.

He urged adoption of a measure to remove price controls when production of a commodity reaches the 1941 level. Pass this amendment, he told the committee, and then "tell the housewife that while it will be very difficult for her to get meat this summer she can have an ample supply of meat at a price she can afford by fall."

The committee is considering whether to extend OPA beyond its present June 30 expiration date.

An "amateur lobby" of housewives, veterans and union members planned to button-hole senators throughout the day, arguing in support of OPA. They were headed by Mrs. Ernest K. Lindley, who led 1,000 women to the house side of the capitol April 15 on a similar mission.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson told the committee yesterday that price controls on livestock should be lifted temporarily if the meat black market is not ended within 90 days.

He told reporters later that if prices jumped too much, OPA should have authority to re-impose price controls. He was willing to lift the controls, however, only in the event of failure of the agriculture department's quota system, which limits the volume of livestock which may be killed by established slaughterers.

Anderson said it would take 90 days to see whether meat black marketers could be eliminated.

$2,000,000 FOR MEDICAL CARE SPENT IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, May 2—Medical care for servicemen's wives and babies in Ohio costs the federal government approximately $2,000,000 annually, a state health official said today.

Dr. Susan Souther, head of the Ohio maternal and child health division, said that up to March 31 of this year the federal government had expended $5,264,059 in Ohio under the emergency maternity and infant care program.

Dr. Souther believed the total figure would exceed $6,000,000 by August, third anniversary of the EMIC program.

EMIC benefits during the war went almost entirely to families of men in the service. Now half of the cases involve wives and babies of recently discharged servicemen.

The payments continue if an eligible serviceman is promoted out of the eligible pay grades, dies, is listed as missing, or is honorably discharged.

Medical care, pre-natal, maternal and six weeks' post-natal care is available to the wife of any serviceman who was pregnant while her husband was an aviation cadet or held one of the lowest four pay grades in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps, Dr. Souther explained.

In such cases, the infant would be entitled to a year's medical care after birth at government expense.

Dr. Souther said that since 1943, 57,214 applications have been filed in Ohio for EMIC benefits, of which 52,508 were approved.

In the War of 1812, some inhabitants of New Haven, Conn., among whom was Capt. Isaac Hull, engaged heavily in the Navy and privateering.

BIDS AWARDED FOR ROAD JOBS

3-C Highway Improvement Included In Contracts Let By State

Contract for re-surfacing part of the three-C highway in Pickaway and Franklin counties has been awarded to Max Zeller, Columbus, in a $22,966.20 bid, it was announced Thursday at Columbus by State Highway Director Perry T. Ford. He announced that 11 low bidders have been awarded 13 highway improvement contracts.

It was also learned that elimination of the "dip" from State Route 104 at Yellowbud with a re-education project submitted by the State Highway Department to the Ohio Public Roads Administration. The project is listed among the State Highway Department's first postwar year federal aid improvement program, and the cost has been estimated at $80,000 to $90,000. It calls for one mile of new highway from the Pickaway county line to Yellowbud with construction of two new bridges 100 feet of the present road.

In announcing the three-C highway improvement Director Ford said that 17 projects were offered and 28 bids were received. No bids were made for two improvement contracts covering the Massillon-Woodstock road in Wayne county and the Canton-Staubenville road in Jefferson county.

Single bids for two contracts were rejected because they exceeded the department's estimates. Accepted bids were below or even with the department's estimates, Ford pointed out.

The highway department rejected the Tri-State Asphalt company's $52,869.36 bid to improve part of the Cambridge-Newcomstown road in Guernsey county. The Martins Ferry firm offer was about $800 over the highway department's estimate.

The $38,448 bid of the S. E. Johnson Company, Toledo, to make improvements on a section of the Van Wert-Dolphus road, in Van Wert county was also rejected. This bid was about $1,000 over the official estimate.

Guarino Guarini was an Italian monk, mathematician and architect. He was born in Modena in 1624 and was appointed architect to the Duke of Savoy, Carlo Emanuele II, and designed many public and private structures in Turin. He died in 1683.

BLACK MARKET AUTO DEALS NOW BEING PROBED

District OPA Office In Move To Break More
Illegal Operations

Black market automobile operations throughout the Cincinnati district of the Office of Price Administration, which includes Pickaway county, are being investigated, it was disclosed Thursday.

The investigation is similar to that conducted at Detroit, Mich., which resulted in the indictment of 31 persons recently on charges filed by the OPA.

Milton J. Rappaport, Cincinnati district enforcement chief for the OPA, said the inquiry is along the same lines as that which led to the roundup at Detroit and that evidence of similar violations is now being gathered. He said that details of the investigation cannot be disclosed for the present.

The group centered at Detroit is said to have done a gross business of $3,000,000 since last November and that more millions of dollars were involved in 10 other states.

Cincinnati and Indianapolis are among the areas where the practices listed in the Detroit indictments are prevalent and now under scrutiny. The indictments already returned named residents of Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri, charged with buying used automobiles at Detroit at above-ceiling prices, and selling them at above-ceiling prices to dealers in other cities, notably Murray, Ky., and Cairo, Ill., at "fake" auction sales.

Rappaport warned automobile black marketers throughout the Cincinnati district of the OPA that federal law provides a maximum penalty of $10,000 fine and two years imprisonment for violations of the price-ceiling regulations pertaining to used automobiles.

He said there have been instances where "spotters" for the black marketers approached auto owners and offered high prices for their cars. Some have even leaped onto running boards to talk to drivers who stopped in traffic.

The Detroit black marketers allegedly purchased more than 2,800 cars in recent months and paid an average of $600 per car above the ceiling figure.

MUSSER HEIFER SELLS FOR $400 AT DELAWARE

Robert D. Musser, Pickaway county Guernsey breeder, sold Ringgold Rosella, a 16 months old Guernsey heifer at the 7th Ohio Guernsey heifer sale at Delaware, Ohio to David Cole, Worthington, Ohio for $400. This top quality heifer was sired by Broadland Baronet and out of the cow Rosella of Spreading Elm.

Mr. Musser's other consignment to this sale Ringgold C. Ginger sold to G. R. Feichtner, Willard, Ohio for $225. This heifer was sired by Riegeldale Conqueror's Emory and out of the cow Ringgold Ginger, whose official production record is $13162 M 576 F, made as a two year old.

These two Guernsey heifers were among the 38 consignments of the sale which averaged $313 per head.

MEN and WOMEN IN UNIFORM

John W. Burkhardt, Ashville, Navy chief petty officer, is at home on a 30-day leave after which he will report for duty at a Naval Air Base near Detroit, Mich., for the remaining nine weeks of his six-year enlistment. During that period Burkhardt will decide whether he wishes to re-enlist. During the past two years he was stationed at San Antonio Beach on Samar Island.

The present address of "Red" Wilson is as follows: PFC Leonard R. Wilson 45006063, Co. A, 803 MP BN, APO 534, New York, New York.

"Red" is playing basketball for the 803 MP's and is going very strong. In a recent newspaper clipping received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, of South Bloomfield, he scored six points and played a brilliant defensive game, just as he did for Ashville in 1944-45. The former Ashville star would appreciate hearing from his friends.

GROWING EXPORT TRADE

SPEAKERS at a recent conference on world trade told their hearers that we should look forward to its rapid increase. Said J. M. O. Monasteric, director of the National Foreign Trade Conference and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce:

"The economic equilibrium of the world is in our hands. We must trade products with foreign nations to maintain peace.

"If the loan to Great Britain is not approved I foresee a serious curtailment of American export-import trade. Without it she will not relinquish current British Empire trade controls, including the Sterling Bloc and the Dollar Pool. American trade would be hampered and the whole nation suffer a severe economic setback."

John Abbink, chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, offered a three-point approach to world stability: commercial treaties with former enemies pending settlement of other disputed issues; quick settlement of loose ends of Lend-Lease; long-term development of international trade.

Herman Greenwood, vice-president of Carrier International, also spoke in favor of the British loan. He emphasized the fact that Americans "must dispel their reluctance to import foreign products and must remove the hair shirt of so-called protective tariffs."

Two points are of special interest. One is the belief that world trade is a strong factor in maintaining world peace. The other is that the tariff no longer protects. Barriers erected to protect infant industries of a weak nation are only an impediment to the free exchange of goods of a strong nation with other nations. Business men now see this and want to correct it.

International trade is important and growing. It should be encouraged.

PRO-JAPANESE U. S.

GETTING the Japanese troops out of Manchuria is one of America's chief problems in the Far East, causing most of the friction with Russia that has appeared in that part of the world. Yet curiously enough the United States was partly responsible for the Japanese getting there in the first place.

Before the Russian-Japanese war of 1904 President Theodore Roosevelt, fearing the Russians, encouraged the Japanese in every way. After the Japanese victory at Port Arthur, he wrote, "I was thoroughly pleased with the Japanese victory, for I felt they were playing our game." During the peace conference in 1905 he wrote, "I am more pro-Japanese than ever. I have found that whenever they committed themselves, they could be thoroughly trusted."

These sentiments of an American president sound strange today.

The worst thing about Europe now is that it can't buy soap enough to keep clean. Maybe we should ship 'em an occasional cargo. But where would we get it?

Vandenberg's Stock Rising
As Presidential Possibility

World Wide Food Shortage
May Last Eighteen Months

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The pathway to the 1948 presidential elections is long and winding, but already Republicans are seeking potential candidates to tread the course.

Political observers at this early date see a distinct possibility that Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R) of Michigan, powerful member of the Senate foreign relations committee, United Nations delegate and presidentially-appointed adviser to Secretary of State Byrnes, will have to be reckoned with.

Vandenberg was a bidding contestant for the nomination back in Philadelphia in 1940, when the late Wendell Willkie finally took the GOP convention by storm. Political experts by the dozens now are pointing out that Vandenberg's stature has grown with the war and the coming of peace in a troubled post-war world.

He has, they emphasize, the confidence of most members of the GOP in Congress and has become an international figure where in past years he was simply a powerful senator from the mid-west. However, there are factors which may stand in Vandenberg's way. The senior senator from Michigan is 62 years old, and will be 64 in 1948 when the presidential chips are down.

Another factor is the midwestern origin of Vandenberg. The GOP is confident of carrying the midwest, and would prefer to head its ticket with a candidate from the east or west coast.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 2—Auto Worker President Walter Reuther put forward to his men a complete economic and political program, disclosing the latest turn of leftwing labor. His policy message to his union sounded like Mr. Truman speaking to congress on the state of his union.

The inner meanings were generally lost because the news accounts naturally centered upon what was headlined as Reuther's decision to purge his industrial army of Communists. This was the first public confirmation of my column a few days earlier, disclosing several CIO unions had decided to turn around on the Communist issue. How far they all will go, Mr. Reuther did not say. He advised the union to be "vigilant." This suggests merely a watch action may develop stronger initiative.

His economic and political program ran along these following curlicues:

(1) The auto workers are against inflation because the higher prices nullify the advantage of wage increases.

(2) The higher price for autos, following the auto workers wage increases, was not justified.

(3) The union now demands a 30 hour week with exactly the same pay as now being received for the 40 hour week. It further demands long paid vacations and benefits from the company for sickness, accidents, pensions—again, I suppose without a price increase, although he does not mention that in the abstract I saw.

Here it is then: no inflation. Another 25 percent wage increase at termination of the existing one year contract. Added costs for benefits. And no price increase it cannot be done. An economic Houdini could not do it next time any more than Reuther could do it last time.

The income of a company is derived from the prices it receives from its products. If its costs go up, as a general proposition, its prices must go up. If its costs and prices continuously go up from year to year—this is inflation. If its costs go up and its prices do not, it is no longer a profitable operation and it goes into bankruptcy. If such processes are carried out on a national scale, the nation then faces the restricted alternatives of inflation or bankruptcy, which means really a single certain end in bankruptcy because inflation destroys all values and inevitably ends in complete bankruptcy—a bankruptcy of wages as well as profits.

For these reasons, the advertised turn-around of leftwing labor caused little or no comment here. It represented no real change. It was wrapped only with new words and phrases.

The Reuther political program for the nation told how he wants a third party, a labor party. He said "we stand for independent political action . . . formation of a broad new progressive party."

National CIO management (and AFL which has no political action committee) has just recently appropriated millions of dollars to organize in southern states. The announced purpose is to organize unions, but an indispensable corollary of CIO-PAC is to organize politics. This sounds like political inflation. Political action in the south contemplates weakening of the Democratic party which has its stronghold there. Election of labor Democrats would be sought. If the movement is successful, the Democratic party would fall to labor. Similar action is underway in the Republican party, and this, if successful, must likewise lead to its capture. Thus success contemplates a one party system, the labor party, through nullification of existing (Continued on Page Ten)

● PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S famine emergency committee originally estimated a critical world food shortage through the first half of this year—a matter of five or six months.

Now, officials are looking farther into the future and many expect the food dearth—worldwide in scope—to last anywhere from 12 to 18 months. Critical areas such as Italy, French North Africa, Poland and Finland, may be forced to remain on low-calorie diets for the longest period. Italy has a daily caloric diet of 1,500, Finland 1,700, both being among the most "critical" famine areas.

Translated into American food terms, these tight food situations mean a continued heavy drain on United States supplies until the countries are back on their feet and producing their own food crops.

The United States, meanwhile, can be expected to assume stricter and closer control over domestic food. Many officials believe that America's voluntary rationing program is ineffective and well-nigh impractical in bringing a solution to the export problem. Food conservation orders are perhaps in sight—but current talk in food circles is that the old war-time rationing is still "not in the cards."

● YOU WOULDN'T THINK that the state department, plagued by the atomic bomb, the United Nations, relations with Russia and peace treaties, would be seriously concerned about baseball—but it is.

Mexican Magnate Jorge Pasquel's inroads on the United States big leagues has had eyebrow raising repercussions in the state corridors of the state department. Officials are not taking sides. What worries them is the effect on United States-Mexican relations.

Temperamental Latins and business-minded Americans provide a well-nigh perfect set-up for a pitched battle. And this is what they want to head off.

To use a diplomatic term, they are hoping for a rapprochement before any serious damage is done. They concede that the strikes and balls may go the limit, but they hope to keep the errors down to a reasonable figure.

A New-Found Healing Agent Used for Infected Wounds

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DOCTORS are like generals. The more weapons they have at their command, the more varied, precise and thoroughgoing their attack can be and the greater the chance of success.

Thus, news of another healing agent is always good news, particularly where it is one effective against infected wounds, because such infections, once entrenched, are likely to hold on with stubborn tenacity.

Infected Wounds

Urea, a substance formed in the body and eliminated through the kidneys, has been found to have a beneficial effect in the treatment of infected wounds. Non-toxic and apparently non-irritating, it will, of itself, dissolve dead tissue and when used locally with sulfonamides will help control infection.

Recently, Drs. Cecil P. G. Wakeley and George Blum of England have found it particularly helpful when combined with iodine. Apparently this combination of drugs stops the growth of germs and these physicians have found it especially useful in infected burns and wounds which do not respond to penicillin or the sulfonamide drugs.

Preparation Used

For six months they used the preparation on 108 cases of injuries, such as fractures, in which the bones had broken through the skin, skin wounds, and burns. All of the patients had been treated with penicillin or the sulfonamide drugs.

In carrying out the treatment the wounds were washed out with hydrogen peroxide and in the cases of fractures any loose portions of bone were removed. The area was then dried with sterile gauze. A liberal amount of the urea-iodine preparation was then placed in the wound.

A dry dressing was applied over this gauze to keep the dressing in place. In the case of fractures, a plaster cast was then put on and left on for three weeks or a month. At the end of this time the wound was re-dressed.

Wounds Healing

It was found that, with this treatment, at the end of three to four weeks little, if any, infection was left, and the wounds were healing rapidly. Regardless of how much of the urea-iodine was put into the wounds there was no reaction. Also, there was a complete lack of pain following this treatment. No interference occurred in the healing of the bone.

In the treatment of burns, the preparation was put on and a bandage applied.

An ointment of the mixture may also be used. The results in all of the cases treated were satisfactory.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. B.: When I begin to feel tired, I start to lose my voice and by evening, I sound like a person with laryngitis.

Answer: It is not clear what is causing this disturbance. It may be due to some disturbance of the larynx or voice box. A careful examination by a physician would be helpful in making a diagnosis.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

INSPECTOR BARRY had arrived at Mariano's before me.

He rose from the wall bench behind a corner table to greet me, with the information: "I've ordered for both of us. Cinsano instead of a cocktail—they still have the real stuff here—and ravioli. All right with you?"

I said: "Wonderful!"

"Well, now that we're all snug and comfortable, shoot, Jane!"

And "shoot" I did, giving my own version of what Brenda must have meant, with the stress on the "wrong" to her husband on which she'd harped so much and for which I had, so far, found no explanation.

The inspector heard me out patiently, consuming two large orders of ravioli while I talked. When I was through at last he asked skeptically: "Sure the 'wrong' isn't just her affair with the unknown he?"

"Quite sure," I said firmly. "She told the truth when she said she'd expected to marry this man after her divorce, but he'd not been her lover."

"Hmm—well—maybe," he conceded. "And about her staying behind when Leighton went off to the far corners of the earth: what did you find out he really was doing?"

"Explorer" is such a vague term. "He made geological surveys for a syndicate that followed him and exploited his discoveries," I told him. "Brenda said he got paid in shares of whatever they developed from his findings and had made a few millions that way in the four years they were married."

"Nice work if you like roughing it. But not so good if you're married to a blond doll who has to be wrapped in cotton batting to keep healthy," Inspector Barry commented dryly. "Women will play around when their husbands are away."

"Not Brenda," I assured him. "She isn't the play-around type. It was just her bad luck to meet this other man, and I bet he worked hard to make her fall in love with him. Look how he had Margot going—and well—a little dumb, woolly lamb like Brenda."

"Correct. If it's the same man," the inspector acknowledged. "And—it may be. It's the same secrecy and invisibility, and does seem to fit together. Too bad she's so scared for her husband she won't tell his name. Of course, she might break if I took her down to headquarters and turned on the heat—mildly."

But it's taking too much of a chance. If the boy friend turns out to be, NOT our murderer, but two other fellows, there'd be an awful howl about 'police brutality.' No, I'm afraid we'll have to let her play it her way and wait until Leighton gets here."

I couldn't believe my ears. "Do you really think the Army will send him all the way from Burma to New York, on the strength of Brenda's cable?" I wondered.

"No," he said briefly. "But it so happens the commissioner has asked Washington the same favor. Leighton's on his way right now, and should be here—let me see—this is Monday night. By Saturday, or Sunday at the latest."

I sat digesting the news for a moment, and then gasped: "The commissioner! Washington! Then you do believe I'm right! Brenda's furniture is at the bottom of—the whole thing!"

"I wouldn't know about the furniture," Inspector Barry said, dampening my enthusiasm. "But from what I've found out I'd bet my last dollar Leighton knows with whom his wife was mixed up. He wouldn't have kicked her out without definite proof of some kind of guilt. And that's what he did, even if he settled a neat monthly allowance on her: kick her out. He sent her to Reno—out of a clear sky . . ."

Bellaeva me, under all her sweet docility about as stubborn as a mule. If her safety, or even her life, depended on talking, when she wants to keep quiet, then she just wouldn't be safe, that's all."

"You're probably right. But you are speaking of a pretty nitwit, and I of a responsible man known for his honesty," the inspector pointed out. "I'll give you an example of what I mean. It seems your friend Brenda lost a valuable string of pearls while her husband was on his last trip. An heirloom in the Leighton family. It was insured for the tidy sum of $75,000, which the insurance company paid after the usual formalities and investigations. But—shortly after his return Leighton refunded the money. Said the loss was pure negligence on the part of his wife and he didn't feel entitled to it."

"That is strange. Brenda seems to lose a lot of jewelry," I thought out loud.

"Meaning what?" the inspector asked, instantly alert.

"A ring with a large diamond she wore that night at Elimpont," I told him. "Mind, I have no proof she lost it. She may have put it away in safe deposit. But—it's gone."

Inspector Barry whipped out a notebook. "Large diamond," he dictated.

tated to himself. "What shape? How many carats, roughly?"

"Square. Emerald cut. I'm not up on carats, but it covered the whole width of her finger. About this big," I illustrated on my own hand.

He whistled softly. "Some stone! Worth a lot of money. Any hunch about what's happened to it, buzzing around in that trick brain of yours?"

"Yes," I blurted out, almost against my will. "Yes, and I've already told it to you. You may not remember, but when I repeated what Brenda had said there was this sentence: 'He had no reason. He had all the—' And then she clapped her hand to her mouth and looked scared. Well, couldn't she have meant: 'He had all the money he needed?' Assuming, of course, she had sold the ring and given the proceeds to him."

"Bright girl! Good, logical reasoning!" the inspector applauded. "That's exactly what the department thinks regarding the lost pearls. That she gave them to her heart throb, and Leighton found it out and drew his own conclusions. It's actually the reason why I'm so sure he's the name. If he discovered that much, he learned that, too."

I shook my head. "I'm sure he did not. If he had—would he have gone off to the war without first getting the rat?"

"Not if he COULD," the inspector agreed placidly. "But—what with the talent of this man to make himself invisible, I don't imagine catching him was easy. He may have sneaked out of the country, or to another part of it. California, for instance. Or he may have used the Army or the Navy or the Marines for a hideout. Don't forget, a man can be a first-rate lounge and yet not be a coward. Fact is, that kind usually likes to fight, for the heck of it."

"Sounds possible," I admitted after some thoughts in which Deane and Hunt played the star parts. "But, at any rate, he's here in New York now. You can't commit murders in absentia. And if Brenda's HE and Margot's blackmailer are one and the same, how are you going to protect Brenda?"

The inspector pulled in his legs and got to his feet. "The usual way. By watching her like a cat watches a mousehole. Come on, let's go," he said all in one breath. And later, after he'd paid the cashier and we were out in the street, he itemized his statement: "There are your 'doormen,' we have a man following her wherever she goes, and her phone is tapped. But even so, believe me I'll be glad when Leighton gets here and spills the name! I've seldom had a case so lacking in clues on which I could make an arrest."

175 Attend Opening Party At Country Club

First Event On 1946 Calendar Outstanding

Cloudy skies and mist did not daunt the spirits of the nearly 175 members and guests who attended the all day open house celebrating the formal opening of the 1946 season at the Pickaway Country club, Wednesday.

Golf matches were held and prizes in the Blind Bogey awarded to Tom Gilliland for four balls, William Goodchild won the three balls and George Dewey Speakman took the two ball prize.

Before dinner fruit punch was served from a huge glass punch bowl by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Snyder, chairman of the committee in charge of the party. Guests were received and reservations checked by Mr. and Mrs. John P. Moore. Other members of the committee mingled among the guests and made sure that every one became acquainted with the new members and guests.

Buffet style dinner was served by Mrs. John Eshelman, Mrs. Robert Musser, Mrs. P. C. Routzahn, Miss Maybelle Laube, and Mrs. P. B. Ferris. Guests were seated at small tables and the porch was softly aglow with candle light and bouquets of spirea and yellow tulips blended with the tall yellow tapers which carried out the Spring color scheme. Mrs. Joe Blanton, had very artistically arranged the flowers. There were two seatings of guests due to the large crowd which attended the affair.

Following the dinner the porch was cleared and a game was conducted by J. I. Smith and Orson Patrick. At the same time a card game was in progress in the living room. This session attracted the men largely although many of the ladies watched.

Many persons gathered outside and talked before going up to the Old Barn to dance. The barn was decorated with yellow and black crepe paper and lighted by many lanterns. Tables were set up at the south end where people sat and watched the informal dancing, which continued until early morning.

Down in the Nineteenth Hole games were in session as well as a meeting of the dance committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Howard White, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Goeller, Mr. and Mrs. George Speakman, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hedges.

Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the evening and declared the opening to be not only a huge success but one of the most outstanding parties of the year.

Out-of-town guests at the affair included Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. John Healey, Chicago; Miss Laube and Mrs. Ferris, Chillicothe; Mrs. Vernon Wenger, Massillon; Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap Jr., Williamsport; Harold Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Black, and James H. Evans, Columbus; and Herbert Malone, Lancaster.

The committee in charge of the affair in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Snyder were Mr. and Mrs. John Eshelman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Musser, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Will, Dr. and Mrs. P. C. Routzahn and Mr. and Mrs. John Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanton are club managers and Mrs. Blanche W. Glick is the club cateress.

CIRCLE TO MEET
Ebenezer Social Circle will meet Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Orin Dresbach, Pickaway township, Mrs. Lewis Sharp, Mrs. George Jury and Mrs. O. C. King are in charge of the program. Mrs. John Maddux and Miss Maude Brown will act as assisting hostesses.

Pickaway Seniors Guests Of Juniors At Annual Banquet

Pickaway township school gymnasium was reconverted into a garden scene when the juniors entertained the seniors for their junior-senior banquet Tuesday evening.

False walls and ceiling were made as an outline for the interior by the interlacing of beautiful pastel shades of crepe paper. One end of the enclosure was used as the dining room and the other part was made into the garden scene and the evening's program took place there. An arch way and picket fence divided the two sections. The guests relaxed in luxurious lawn chairs for the entertainment.

Miss Carolyn Wright, president of the junior class, welcomed the seniors and guests, and Miss Patty Wolfe, senior class president, responded in behalf of the other guests.

The Rev. Carl Kennedy made the evening a highly successful affair with his humorous remarks and his musical numbers. His violin playing in both serious and non-serious moods was enjoyed by all of the guests. For his closing number he whistled "Stardust," accompanied on a guitar himself.

Seniors attending the affair were Wayne Bower, Carolyn Dearth, Catharine Hall, Betty Miller, Rita Rhoads, Jean Sharrett, and Patty Wolfe. Juniors present were James Cook, David Evans, Lorna Holbrook, Helen Riffel, Irlan Ritchie, Martin Sharrett, Bob Wilson, Mac Wolfe, and Carolyn Wright. Members of the faculty and guests, included, Miss Mildred Wertman, Miss Eddie Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. John Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Don Patterson, Mr. J. O. Eagleson, Mr. and Mrs. George D. McDowell, and Rev. Carl Kennedy. The banquet was prepared by the Mothers of the members of the junior class.

DISCOVERER OF 'WONDER DRUG' 'PLAYING ABOUT'

British Scientist Seeking 'Something Better' Than Penicillin

BY EDWIN ROTH

United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON, May 2—Sir Alexander Fleming, the white-haired British scientist who discovered penicillin and won the Nobel prize for medicine, was "playing about" again today in his London laboratory—looking for something better.

A spot of mould in a small glass dish still can be seen on his cluttered work bench. Sir Alexander noticed that spot in 1928. It was the result of a bacteriological experiment that went astray—but it brought penicillin to the world.

Dozens of test tubes and glass dishes now line the long work bench. Any one of them may contain that "something better" for which the small scientist with the blue eyes is looking.

"These are diphtheria microbes," he said, indicating one dish. "Here I have put some staphylococci—that's the kind of microbes that give you carbuncles. Now they germinate—and I'll be able to see just what they will do to the diphtheria microbes."

"There are similar processes going on in these," he explained, pointing to another batch. "Most of them probably will be no good. Some of them may be useful. I don't know yet which ones. Perhaps I'll find something even better than penicillin."

"After all," he said, "it was just by chance that I noticed that mould killing the staphylococci in my dish 18 years ago. We've got to keep on trying."

"You see, that's all I really do here. Just playing about. Unfortunately, one doesn't discover a thing like penicillin every day."

Sir Alexander said the latest method of administering penicillin is by inhalation. Bronchitis is treated in this manner. Penicillin attacks the microbes directly in the bronchial tubes, and indirectly by absorption into the blood stream.

The modest scientist is not at all happy about the worldwide publicity he has received, nor about the exaggerated claims made for "the wonder drug."

"Penicillin," he said, "is not a cure-all. In spite of what has been written about it, penicillin can not cure chronic rheumatism, dysentery, or influenza, and it has no effect whatever on tuberculosis."

He said that a newspaper had carried a story last week claiming that penicillin would cure the common cold. "That's not true," he sighed, "but now everybody with a common cold will want penicillin."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 8 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

EAGLES 9 WINS FIRST GAME OF SOFTBALL LOOP

Thursday Game Called Off
After Rain Makes Field
Too Wet To Play

Rain had turned Ted Lewis park into a lake Thursday, but the season did get officially opened between showers.

Eagles won the first game of the Night Softball League season Wednesday night, edging Blue Ribbon 7-6 in an interesting contest.

Given not too good support, "Pug" Fowler pitched an outstanding game for the Eagles. He allowed three hits, struck out 12, walked three and hit one batter.

W. Conley, on the mound for Blue Ribbon allowed six hits, struck out six and hit one batter. He got a home run off Fowler. Other hits were a double by Valentine and single by "Snow" Seymour.

Sherm Denny was the slugging star of the contest, hitting two doubles and a single. He drove in the winning Eagles run in the top of the seventh.

Blue Ribbon took an early 5-0 lead but the score was tied 5-5 at the start of the seventh. Eagles counted two runs in their half of the frame and Blue Ribbon could get only one.

Thursday night's game has been postponed and there is a possibility there will be no more games this week. If the sun comes out and dries the diamond, Isaly's and Legion will play Friday night.

A large crowd saw the opener. Opening game festivities including the Kiwanis-Rotary game were called off.

SOX PITCHERS SHOWING FORM IN EARLY GAMES

Yankees Bounce Back From
No-Hitter To Blast Tribe
Behind Ruffing

NEW YORK, May 2—The question mark pitching staff that was expected to hamper the pennant changes of the Boston Red Sox was getting revised respect today for compiling the best all-round early season record of any mound corps in either major league.

There were few doubts at the start about Boston's hitting ability. But there were plenty about the pitchers since Manager Joe Cronin had to start the season with only one man, Cecil (Tex) Hughson, who had been a consistent winner judged by pre-war standards.

Surprising even Cronin, his starting quartet of Hughson, Joe Dobson, Mickey Harris and Dave (Doc) Ferriss, now is in the midst of a six-game winning streak in which none has required relief. Moreover they lead both leagues in winning completed games with 10 to date, three more than the Yankees and Cardinals, who each have played seven in which the starter has needed no relief. Hughson and Harris each have pitched three complete games while Ferriss and Dobson have turned in two apiece.

Ferriss, the drawing right-hander from Shaw, Miss., pitched one of the best games of his career yesterday, topped the visiting Tigers, 13 to 1 on four hits while the Red Sox were doing some characteristic slugging against three Detroit pitchers.

The Yankees came back strong after being no-hit by Bobby Feller, topping Cleveland, 6 to 3 as 42-year-old Charley (Red) Ruffing began his 21st major league career with a four-hit win. Leadoff man Phil Rizzuto hit the first ball pitched for a first inning double that broke the no-hit spell.

Sam Chapman's ninth inning homer, his fourth this season, gave the Athletics a 3 to 2 victory over St. Louis at Philadelphia, the second win in a row over the Browns.

Brooklyn regained a first place tie in the National, by hitting four Cub pitchers for 15 safe blows in a 5 to 1 victory at Chicago. Hal Gregg coasted to his second victory, even though the Dodgers squandered many scoring chances, fanned 13 men on base. Rookie Dick Whitman got five hits including a double to pace the Dodgers.

Marine Veteran Ike Pearson of the Philadelphia Phillies, shut out the Pirates at Pittsburgh, 8 to 0, on five hits for his 1946 debut. Frank McCormick hit a two run homer for the Phils.

Chicago at Washington in the American and Boston at Cincinnati and New York at St. Louis in the National were rained out.

25 RACE HORSES WORTH $500,000 BURN TO DEATH

CHICAGO, May 2—Twenty-five race horses valued at $500,000, owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham, cosmetic manufacturer, were burned to death early today in a fire at the Arlington park race track.

Seven other horses were rescued. Police said the dead horses included an unidentified colt sired by War Admiral and worth $46,000. Another was Gay Emperor, worth $32,000.

Court cases were decided in Scotland by trial by battle until the close of the 16th century.

Officials of the All-State game and members of the press will gather to choose the All-Stars from the rosters of the all-Ohio teams picked last autumn by the press associations and from recommendations of Ohio high school coaches.

Ballots for recommendation of additional players were mailed recently to every high school coach in the state. Coaches of several areas of the state collaborated in selecting the boys they wished to represent their sectors on the All-Star squad.

The All-Star squad of 48 boys will be divided into two squads of 24 players each, probably on a geographical basis. Exact method of dividing the squad also was expected to come up for discussion in tonight's meeting.

The two teams will be coached by Paul Bixler of Ohio State and Frank Leahy of Notre Dame. Bixler will have Ernie Godfrey and Esco Sarkinen of his Ohio State staff as aides, while Leahy will be assisted by Bernie Crimmins and Ed (Moose) Krause of his Notre Dame staff.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL NEWS

About 150 people attended the dance sponsored by the senior class of Ashville high school Tuesday night, April 23. Those in attendance included high school students, teachers with their wives, husbands, or friends, a few students from the seventh and eighth grades, and other young people from Ashville and vicinity.

The evening had been requested by out-of-school young people of Asheville who, after the All-County High School Dance sponsored by the seniors Friday, March 29, had expressed a desire for this type of supervised entertainment not otherwise available to them in Asheville.

Tuesday was the only convenient date for the school and the orchestra of Carl Speckman who also played for the dance held a few weeks ago.

A feature of the evening was the series of cake walks for cakes baked by mothers of the seniors. Sandwiches and pop were sold by the seniors for refreshments. The evening's entertainment started at nine o'clock and ended promptly at twelve o'clock.

TRANGE HONEYMOON
A lovely wedding and a happily-anticipated honeymoon are marred by the frantic actions of an ex-love of the groom, during "Strange Honeymoon," to be heard on "Real Stories From Real Life," Thursday (8:15 to 8:30 p.m., EST) over Mutual. Two hours after the ceremony, the old girl friend makes an appearance on the scene and vows that she will win the man back, despite his marriage. But level-headedness on the part of the new bride, and a deep faith in her husband, manages to avert what might have become a marital tragedy.

TREASURE HOUR

A colorful bouquet of springtime melody culled from three continents will be presented on "Treasure Hour Of Song" by Licia Albanese, Francesco Valentino and Conductor Alfredo Antonini on the MBS broadcast, Thursday, (8:30 to 9 p. m., EST). The lyric soprano voice of Miss Albanese will be heard in "Mimi's Farewell" from the third act of "La Boheme," in "The Star" by Rogers, and with Mr. Valentino, in the romantic duet, "One Alone" from "The Desert Song." Opera and Operetta also provide Valentino's solos. His robust baritone will be heard in "Yours Is My Heart Alone" and the Toreador Song from "Carmen." From Europe, the United States and South America come maestro Antonini's orchestra numbers, the "Tarantella" of Rossini, arranged by England's Benjamin Britten, the traditional "Virginia Reel" and the rhythmic "Batuca-da" by Don Alfonso.

young lady who is stepped into the musical limelight with her rendition of "Why Don't You Do Right?", will be Bing Crosby. Music Hall guest, Thursday, at 9 p. m. (EST) over NBC, Eddy Duchin is a regular musical assistant of Bing's together with the Charloters, the Music Hall chorus, and John Scott Trotter's orchestra.

Peggy Lee's broadcasts and her records have established her solidly among the popular singers of the day. One of her records, "You Was Right, Baby" sold a half-million copies the first five weeks it was released. This platter rated a double applause for Peggy because it was a number written in colla-

Klemeshe Lake, but as the young couple excitedly confided, "This is the first plane trip for each of us."

ABBOTT AND COSTELLO

When Mrs. Niles' Gin Rummy and Social Club decides it needs funds, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, instead of doing the obvious and suggesting that they play gin rummy with non-members, for money, run an amateur theatrical benefit performance for the club, in the comedy broadcast, Thursday, at 9 p. m. Amy Arnell sings "Give Me a Little Kiss," and Carl Hoff and the orchestra, probably inspired by the quality of the benefit performance, play "You've Got Me Crying Again."

SETS TOES TAPING
Late evening dancing enthusiasts will find new and danceable arrangements on "Feeling Is Mutual", Thursday, (10:30 to 10:45 p.m., EST) over MBS.
